

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE American
Political Science Association,
AT ITS
Second Annual Meeting
HELD AT
BALTIMORE, MD., DECEMBER 26 to 29, 1905.

WICKERSHAM PRESS,
LANCASTER, PA.
1906.

Copyright, 1906, by
THE AMERICAN POLITICAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

---

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | PAGE |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| The American Political Science Association:                                                                                                                                                                        |      |
| Constitution . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 5    |
| Officers for the year 1905 . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                      | 7    |
| Officers for the year 1906 . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                      | 8    |
| List of Members . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 9    |
| The Second Annual Meeting of the Association:                                                                                                                                                                      |      |
| Report of the Treasurer . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                         | 19   |
| Report of the Secretary . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                         | 21   |
| Programme . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 27   |
| Papers and Discussions:                                                                                                                                                                                            |      |
| The Growth of Executive Discretion. By Frank J. Goodnow . . .                                                                                                                                                             | 29   |
| The Use of Neutral Waters by Belligerents. By John HolladayLatané. . . . .                                                                                                                                            | 45   |
| The Relations of England and the United States as Affected by theFar-Eastern Question. By Amos S. Hershey . . . . .                                                                                                   | 59   |
| The Comparative Results, in the Advancement of Private Interna-tional Law, of the Montevideo Congress of 1888-9 and the HagueConferences of 1893, 1894, 1900, and 1904. By Simeon E. Bald-win, LL. D. . . . . | 73   |
| Discussion: Arthur K. Kuhn . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                               | 87   |
| The Case for Municipal Ownership. By Frederic C. Howe . . .                                                                                                                                                               | 89   |
| Municipal Ownership. By Winthrop M. Daniels . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                     | 105  |
| Discussion: L. S. Rowe, John A. Fairlie, Milo R. Maltbie, J. Dor-sey Forrest, Albert Shaw, Jeremiah W. Jenks, Richard T. Ely,F. B. Thurber . . . . .                                                       | 113  |
| The Cabinet and Congress: An Historical Inquiry. By Mary L.Hinsdale . . . . .                                                                                                                                         | 126  |
| The Realities of Negro Suffrage. By Albert Bushnell Hart . . .                                                                                                                                                            | 149  |
| Suffrage Conditions in the South: The Constitutional Point of View.By John C. Rose . . . . .                                                                                                                          | 166  |
| Discussion: John Martin, S. C. Mitchell, Henry E. Shepherd . . .                                                                                                                                                   | 166  |
| Racial Distinctions in Southern Law. By Gilbert T. Stephenson .                                                                                                                                                           | 170  |
| Corrupt Practices and Election Laws in the United States. ByGeorge L. Fox . . . . .                                                                                                                                   | 171  |
| State Interference. By Theodore Marburg . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                         | 187  |
| The Scope of Political Science. By Henry Jones Ford . . . . .                                                                                                                                                             | 198  |
| What Do Students Know About American Government BeforeTaking College Courses in Political Science? By William A.Schaper . . . . .                                                                                 | 207  |
| Report of the Meeting of the Section on Comparative Legislation .                                                                                                                                                         | 229  |